Abstract

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Abstract, line 1 the applicant should avoid using legal phraseology in the abstract for example line 1, "comprising" is legal phraseology and needs to be corrected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 and 4 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rayburn (3,758,833). Rayburn disclose in Figure 3 a capacitor structure, comprising: a conductive layer, wherein the conductive the conductive layer has a first spiral pattern (16) and a second spiral pattern (18) arranged alternately with respect to each other; an a dielectric layer (14), disposed between the first spiral pattern (16) and the second spiral pattern (18). Regarding claim 2, wherein the first spiral pattern (16) comprise an arc shaped spiral pattern. Regarding claim 4, wherein the first spiral pattern (18) comprise an arc shaped spiral pattern.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rayburn. Regarding claims 3 and 5, Rayburn disclose in Figure 3 applicant's invention except for having the first spiral pattern (re: claim 3) or second spiral pattern (re: 5) comprising a rectangular spiral pattern. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to have the first spiral pattern or second spiral pattern to comprise a rectangular spiral pattern, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the shape of a component. Where the instant specification and evidence of record fail to attribute any significance (novel or unexpected results) to a particular shape, a change of shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. Span-Deck Inc. V. FabCon, Inc., 215 USPQ 835.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 6-14 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claims 6-14, the allowability in combination with the claimed features is because nowhere in the prior art is there a capacitor structure having at least a first contact window, disposed in the dielectric layer for electrically connecting the first spiral patterns of two adjacent patterns of two adjacent conductive layers; and at least a second contact window, disposed in the dielectric layer for electrically for electrically connecting the second spiral patterns of two adjacent conductive layers.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Citation of Pertinent Prior Art

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
